Understanding Parkinson's: What Makes it Unique

Presented by Anna Sanger Reed (Program Director, Parkinson's Resources)

Learn how to best serve people with Parkinson's and their families. This educational presentation is designed to help professionals, caregivers, and community partners better understand the complexities of Parkinson's disease and its impact on individuals and families. We will explore what sets Parkinson's apart from other neurological conditions, including its progressive nature, motor and non-motor symptoms, medication timing considerations, and the emotional and cognitive changes that can occur over time.
